MACMILLAN AND ADENAUER REPORTED IN AGREEMENT ON THE GERMAN QUESTION

By HERB ALTSCHUL

BONN, Germany (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer have reached full agreement on Berlin, the German question and European security, a German government spokesman said today.

The statement came after Macmillan and Adenauer wound up their talks at a morning session of more than two hours. Only an interpreter was present.

Macmillan arrived Thursday from talks with French President Charles de Gaulle in Paris. He goes to the United States next week for conferences with President Eisenhower.

Apparently the French and West German governments overruled any ideas the British may have had to ease the Berlin crisis by proposing a wholesale withdrawal of troops from central Europe.

Macmillan obviously sought to quiet West German fears that his recent mission to Moscow had raised the prospect of "disengagement" as an Allied policy.

Bonn press chief Felix von Eckardt told a news conference that the two heads of government were agreed on the procedures in the coming weeks. "No differences exist," he said.

British Foreign Office spokesman Peter Hope concurred. The agreement followed a period of considerable German coolness and misgiving over Macmillan's visit to Moscow.

Some West German sources had indicated privately there was fear Macmillan might give way on some points other Western partners regarded as vital without getting anything from the Soviets in return.

Asked about the Bonn government's attitude, Von Eckardt said it had always regarded the Macmillan trip as useful, but now it regarded it as having been "extremely useful."

The British prime minister admitted on arriving in Bonn Thursday that the Western powers are "still a long way" from their goal of finding a policy to counter the Soviet threat to drive them out of West Berlin.

The committee estimated this would produce 264 of the additional 400 million dollars Lawrence's budget drafters said are needed to balance a record $1,907,000,000 1959-61 fiscal outlay.

The administration's 12-bill tax package has been stalled in the Democratic-controlled House since last week. It was soundly criticized.

One of Last Two Civil War Vets is Pneumonia Victim

KINGSFORD, Tenn. (AP)—John Salling, one of two surviving veterans of the Civil War, was wearing the battle of his long life early today. Pneumonia closed in on the 112-year-old Confederate soldier.

Salling was brought to Mural Clinic, a private hospital here, from his home in Slant, Va., Thursday. Dr. John Mural confirmed the diagnosis, and said Salling was in very poor condition.

The only other survivor of the Civil War is Walter Williams of Houston, Tex., who was 116 on Nov. 14. He has been bedfast and in declining health for many months.

Two members of Salling's family — one a great-granddaughter 100 years younger than he — are in the same hospital. They are Mrs. Hobart Hawkins, wife of a grandson, who is recovering from recent surgery, and her daughter, Linda, 12, who is in good condition, also with pneumonia.

Hawaiian Statehood Bill To Reach Ike Some Time Today

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hawaiian Islands will become the nation's 50th state within the year.

Congress answered the territory's half-century of pleading for statehood Thursday with a resounding 323-89 vote in the House. The Senate assented a day earlier with a 76-15 vote.

President Eisenhower gets the bill today. His approval is certain. Presidential secretary James C. Hagerty said the President is delighted.

In four to six months Hawaii could be a full partner in the union. It will take that long to set up elections for the nearly 600,000 people to choose their first state officers, their two U.S. senators and one representative in the House. Hawaii will qualify for a second House seat after the 1960 census.

There is a maximum time schedule set out in the state constitution which the people of Hawaii, tired of waiting, adopted in 1950. The maximum is 180 days between the date the President signs the bill and the date of the general election. The actual time could be less.

John A. Burns, Hawaii's Democratic delegate to Congress, said he favored the shortest possible preliminaries to the ultimate proclamation of the President formally admitting the islands to statehood. Hawaiians will have other things to vote on, besides officers.

They must decide:

1. Whether they want statehood. (They voted for it 2-1 in a plebiscite 19 years ago, but they must vote again.)

2. Whether to accept the boundaries defined by Congress. This excludes Palmyra Island, a tiny, privately owned, coral atoll 950 miles south of Honolulu.)

3. Whether to accept the federal land grants and reservations specified in the state constitution.

Jaycees Give Approval to Independence Day Project

The Fourth of July Celebration was adopted as a project by the Warren Jaycees during their regular membership meeting last night at the YMCA.

Guided by the results of the recently conducted poll, which were overwhelmingly in favor of the Celebration, the Jaycees decided to undertake the project for the twelfth consecutive year. Bill Clinger, Jaycee president, while on a brief visit to the editorial rooms of the Times-Mirror this morning, stated that the Junior Chamber believes that the community as a whole wants and will support the celebration.

In other action taken at last night's meeting, Clinger presented the "Spoke" award to Ralph Wade of the J. C. Penny Co. This award is given to Jaycee members who, during their first year of membership, have made outstanding contributions to the community and the chapter. The only previous recipient of the award this year was Mark Bevevino of Bevevino Electric Co.

Warren Area Joint Board To Consider Bids Monday Night; Food for Thought on Subject

Monday is the night when the Warren Area Joint School Board may vote to accept bids for general construction, heating and ventilating, plumbing and drainage, and electrical work of the proposed new Warren Area Joint High School building, so urgently needed.

Current, and approximated, unofficial low bids for only the aforementioned total $2,537,000 and when added to architect's costs, a three million dollar figure begins to emerge.

In December, 1957, with additional costs for 600 square feet more shop space approved by the Warren Area Joint Board taken into consideration, cost of the proposed new school construction was approximated at a shade over $2,600,000 as compared with original estimates of about two and one-half million dollars. It was reminded at that time that this was somewhat in excess of the $2,040,000 which will be reimbursed by the state.

The task laid before board members, representing area taxpayers, is a tremendous responsibility, and Monday's meeting will undoubtedly attract a good crowd concerned with the future development, with an eye toward what the new Warren Area High School will actually cost when fully completed and furnished. Singer, Dean and Scribner, Pittsburgh Bonding firm will also be represented at the session to offer proposals for financing the project.

Because all over the United States in hundreds of communities, parents and taxpayers are becoming more and more alert to educational needs, with a definite awareness of costs involved in providing their children with proper schools, much research has been done by experts in the field and plenty of sound reading material made readily available.

Reader's Digest, February 1959 issue, for example, contains a thought-provoking article by Charles Stevenson entitled "How to Have More School for Less Money" portion of which might well be considered.

The article states—"Plain facts are now emerging. Investigations started by the New York State Education Department (Turn To Page Twelve)

Unions Protest Hoffa's Presence At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, told independent oil refinery workers Thursday night: "Join us and more than a million Teamsters will help you fight your battles with Esso Standard Oil Co."

Hoffa ignored criticism of 30 AFL-CIO unions in the area who protested his coming here. The unions ran newspaper advertising, and used radio and TV time to protest his attempt to bring the Independent Industrial Workers Assn. into the Teamsters.

He spoke to a crowd estimated at more than 1,000 at the United Mine Workers Union hall, only place the IWWA could obtain.

Hoffa made it clear he intended bringing all independent Standard Oil unions into the Teamsters. The IWWA has been working since last summer without a contract. Key dispute is over Esso's demand for acceptance of a catchall "refinery mechanic" category, lumping many craft groups.

Sandburg canceled a lecture set for Bangor, Maine, tonight.

MID-MARCH SNOW STORM TAPERS OFF

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A severe mid-March snowstorm which hammered the Northeast, crippling normal activities and leaving a heavy death toll, tapered off today.

The late winter storm, worst of the season, dumped more than a foot of snow in sections of New England and New York state. Light snow fell during the early morning in the extreme Northeast as the intense storm moved out into the Atlantic.

At least 24 deaths were attributed to the storm, which earlier had lashed areas in the Midwest.

Most of the deaths were attributed to heart attacks suffered while shoveling snow.

The storm was indirectly blamed for the deaths this morning of seven persons including five children, in a fire in snow-bound Easton, Maine. A father, five of his six children and one man perished in the blaze that destroyed their home in Easton, about 10 miles from the Canadian border. Firemen, hampered by huge snow drifts, arrived too late at the burning home of John Hersey to save the victims.

Huge cleanup jobs confronted the storm-battered sections. Strong winds which whipped the heavy snow covering into huge drifts slowed snow removal.

New York state, which was hit by a covering up to 18 inches in some places, was lashed by strong winds during the night, especially in eastern areas. Travel in many sections was halted. Six deaths in New York were blamed on the storm.

Similar conditions were reported in many parts of New England, but most roads were open and plane flights were scheduled to resume.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Heavy snow flurries, freezing temperatures and an undercoat of ice made Pittsburgh district roads a motorist's nightmare during the morning rush hour today.

Motorists backed bumper-to-bumper on major arteries leading into the Golden Triangle might have noted it was Friday the 13th, although pretty much the same thing happened Thursday.

Snow flurries began in the pre-dawn hours, but salt and ash trucks didn't get into action until the inbound crush had begun. Then they couldn't keep up with all the trouble calls. Numerous traffic jams resulted.

EASTON, Maine (AP)—Seven persons, including five children, perished early today in a fire that destroyed their five-room cottage in snow-bound Easton, about 10 miles from the Canadian border.

The victims were John Hersey, 41, five of his six children, and Carl Lundy, 50, an overnight guest.

Hersey's wife, Christina, 40, and the only surviving child, Deanna, 13, escaped from the blazing 1 1/2-story wooden dwelling by crashing through a first floor window.

Snow drifts four feet deep on the highways prevented help from reaching the scene in time.

An ambulance sent from Presque Isle, seven miles away, was able to maneuver only two miles in two hours before it bogged down.

Fire trucks sent from Mars Hill, eight miles away, could not get through at all. Only one heavy fire truck made it from Presque Isle.

Ironically, Hersey, a former professional boxer, was a firefighter at Loring Air Force Base, Littleton, Maine, 20 miles from his home.

Outlawing Nudism Puzzles Legislator

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Speaker Richard H. Ichord is trying to decide which Missouri House Committee should hear a bill which would outlaw nudism.

"The Appropriations Committee thinks it should get the bill because it deals in figures," Ichord said Thursday. He said he would send it to a mental health committee, but the House doesn't have one.

Sentencing in Store Holdup Is Postponed

Sentencing was delayed until April 10 against Melvin Stewart, who attempted a holdup of Epstein Clothing Store Feb. 23, following testimony in court today.

In other quarter sessions court cases this morning, Douglas Burke and William Hartzell, Jr., were each fined $100 on drunken driving charges. Burke drew a one-day jail sentence, already served, while Hartzell was sentenced to three days, credit for one. LeRoy Bennett was ordered to pay costs on a larceny charge. Several non-support cases were disposed of.

Pre-sentence investigation in the Stewart case was ordered to see if the defendant was telling the truth, "which is very important," Judge Alexander C. Flick said.

During questioning by District Attorney Samuel F. Bonavita, Stewart was heard to say: "I'd like to see my babies." Mr. Stewart, the father of five ranging in age from 2 to 9 years, wept occasionally.

Not having sufficient funds for counsel, the court appointed Attorney C. Henry Nicholson for Stewart.

Taking the stand for his husband, Mrs. Stewart called him a good man and a good father, saying he always provided for his children. Mrs. Stewart said her husband stopped drinking a year ago. (When arrested following the attempted robbery, a half-pint of whiskey was found in Stewart's car, about one quart consumed.)

When they got behind on payment of bills, Mrs. Stewart said her husband began to worry and became emotionally disturbed. It was revealed that Stewart received a leg injury a year ago, forcing him to miss (Turn to Page Twelve)

Huge Block of Ford Co. Stock For Public Sale

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two million shares of Ford Motor Co. stock will be offered for public sale at the end of this month by the Ford Foundation.

The offering of common class "A" stock, at today's price, will be worth more than 110 million dollars.

The foundation notified the Securities and Exchange Commission Thursday of the intended sale.

Plans outlining the sale said the offering price would depend on the price of Ford stock on the New York Stock Exchange just before the block of shares is released.

Ford stock closed on the New York market Thursday at $55.37, up 62 cents on the day. This compares with the original offering price of $64.50 a share and a low of $35.87 in 1957.

The only earlier big offering of Ford stock to investors was in 1956, when the public was first invited into part ownership of the previously tightly held family corporation. That issue of 10,200,000 shares was the largest issue of equity stock in history.

The foundation is a nonprofit corporation organized for scientific, educational and charitable purposes. It owns 36,132,239 shares of Ford stock, acquired through gifts and bequests from Henry and Edsel Ford.

CAP PILOT LEBANON, Pa. (AP)—A 30-year-old Civil Air Patrol officer was killed Thursday night when his privately-owned twin-engine plane crashed on a farm about 10 miles northwest of here between Anville and Indiantown Gap.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army engineers are hopeful that litigation by the Seneca Indian Nation over the proposed flood control dam at Kinzua, Pa., can be completed before summer.

Maj. Gen. E. C. Itchner, chief of Army Engineers, said Thursday he had been assured by the Justice Dept. that it will file a quick reply to a Seneca appeal scheduled before the U. S. Supreme Court on April 24.

Lower courts previously rejected appeals by the Senecas to block construction of the dam on the upper Allegheny River. The Senecas claim part of their New York state reservation would be inundated.

AMOUNT URGENTLY NEEDED TO THWART A "FANTASTIC COMMUNISM CONSPIRACY"

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today for $3,930,000,000 in foreign aid. He said the spending is essential to survival in the face of a "growing Communist potential to launch a war of nuclear destruction."

In a special message Eisenhower cautioned against reckless cuts, lest the United States become "the richest nation in the graveyard of history."

The President said the full amount is urgently needed to thwart "a fanatic conspiracy of international communism" which maintains 6 1/2 million men under arms in about 400 divisions around the world.

Singling out the Soviet drive to force the West out of Berlin, made demands regarding the divided, could have perilous consequences.

Eisenhower said: "In Europe today the Soviet Union has future of Berlin which, if unmoored, would be a disaster."

Speaking of the worldwide Red threat against free nations, Eisenhower told the legislators: "Two fundamental purposes of our collective defense are to prevent general war and to deter Communist local aggression."

"We know the enormous and growing Communist potential to launch a war of nuclear destruction and their willingness to use this power as a threat to the free world."

"We know also that even local aggressions, unless checked, could absorb nation after nation—or could flame into world war."

"The protection of the free world against the threat or the reality of Soviet nuclear aggression or local attack rests on the common defense effort established under our collective security agreements."

The sum requested is about 12 million dollars less than sought last year. It would continue massive military-economic assistance to some 70 friendly nations into a 13th consecutive postwar year.

Eisenhower's aid requests have been cut sharply in past years. Democrats, urging more spending than the administration plans on some domestic programs and the nation's own defenses, have been eyeing the foreign aid fund as a place to offset some of the increases.

Nearly 62 per cent of the new funds Eisenhower asked would go for military programs — military equipment and munitions including missiles and "defense support" as aid to nations which maintain big military forces of their own.

The remainder would go for development help, technical assistance and low interest loans, especially in Asia and the Middle East.

Eisenhower said special aid from one of these funds is needed for West Berlin which he described as "a solitary outpost of freedom back of the Iron Curtain."

"In addition to the firm support for West Berlin which he described as 'a solitary outpost of freedom back of the Iron Curtain.'"

Graham Expecting Huge Crowd to Final Service

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Billy Graham announced today that attendance so far in his month-long Melbourne crusade has been about 525,000. Of these 19,368 came forward to make "decisions for Christ."

More than 100,000 are expected for the last Melbourne meeting Sunday.

Graham told a news conference this is the most moral big city he has ever visited.

The evangelist said he plans to spend a two-week vacation on Queensland's Gold Coast resting and writing a book.

Engineers Hopeful for Early End of Litigation Over Dam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army engineers are hopeful that litigation by the Seneca Indian Nation over the proposed flood control dam at Kinzua, Pa., can be completed before summer.

Maj. Gen. E. C. Itchner, chief of Army Engineers, said Thursday he had been assured by the Justice Dept. that it will file a quick reply to a Seneca appeal scheduled before the U. S. Supreme Court on April 24.

Lower courts previously rejected appeals by the Senecas to block construction of the dam on the upper Allegheny River. The Senecas claim part of their New York state reservation would be inundated.

Itchner told a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee the engineers have $1,400,000 available to start construction of the dam as soon as the litigation is cleaned up. He said the money would be enough to carry on the work for a year.

Itchner also told the subcommittee that if the dam had been in existence during the January floods it would have prevented $3,300,000 damage at Warren and other Allegheny River communities.

Decision on Dairy Price Supports Is Cause of Surprise

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to make no further reduction in dairy price supports has political as well as economic implications.

In announcing this decision at a news conference late Thursday, Benson set forth at length what he termed economic justifications for retaining the present dairy supports. Under the law, he could have cut them about 3 per cent.

Some farm leaders expressed surprise Benson already had lowered supports for a great number of products including wheat, corn, rye, oats, barley, sorghum grain, soybeans, cottonseed, rice, peanuts, flaxseed, and dry beans.

Dear Sir:

Perhaps the Citizens of Warren would be interested in reading the following news item, which appeared in the Meadville Tribune under date of March 3 and the editorial under date of March 5.

CAMBRIDGE COUNCIL OK'S FLUORIDATION
"Cambridge Springs Borough last night became the first Crawford County community to approve fluoridation of its drinking water as an aid in combating tooth decay."

"The borough council approved a recommendation for installation of necessary equipment as soon as specifications can be prepared and bids advertised and let, Louis Rothenstein, council president, reported."

"A water committee previously appointed by Rothenstein reported in favor of a plan following an intensive study here already is being done, and reports from chemists, doctors and dentists who expressed wholehearted support of the idea, Rothenstein said."

"Proponents and opponents discussed the two sides to the question during a lengthy meeting last night in the council chamber. Rothenstein said a very favorable vote was taken in support of the plan. It was pointed out that council could approve the plan without having to put it to a vote by general public as an election question."

"Council now will study various types of equipment and will seek out engineering information pertaining to equipment before preparing specifications for bids."

A PROGRESSIVE BOROUGH
"The many forward-looking steps taken by the borough of Cambridge Springs in recent years have earned it a reputation as one of the most progressive communities in Crawford County."

gressive communities in Crawford County.

Most recent evidence is its courageous decision to adopt a program of fluoridation of its drinking water. Not only has the borough council decided that fluoridation is a worthwhile and desirable step, but its members have had the courage to assume responsibility for their decision. They aren't placing the question on the ballot for others to decide, but are making the decision themselves.

Despite the adequacy of scientific data and the favorable experience of other communities, there is considerable opposition to fluoridation of drinking water. Many people who are grateful for the protection afforded by the introduction of chlorine into drinking water are hostile to fluoridation. Thus the Cambridge Springs Council has demonstrated great courage in behalf of its convictions."

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene Lockhart, one of America's all-time great actors, appeared in hundreds of films, but the public knew very little about him.

He died two years ago, but he is still much alive in the thoughts of his actress daughter.

"Many people didn't know it, but father also was very active as a songwriter," said June Lockhart, currently starring as the young mother in the TV network, "Lassie."

"He wrote 60 or 70 songs, among them 'The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise.'"

"Father was a very versatile, talented and kind man. He was a doer and a giver, and he gave more of that thing that is most precious to all of us—time."

"When he was young and poor he didn't even have an overcoat. My mother, who was also in the theater, noticed this and sent him one and I guess that's how she got him."

"Father, as he grew older, was a very devout man. He helped many people come into the church. He was a very dedicated man—dedicated to his fellow human beings. He used to spend hours every day helping people with their problems."

"He had tremendous drive and a great capacity for work. After a long day at the studio, he would write most of the night on plays, sketches, songs, letters to people in trouble. He never sloughed off a job, no matter how small."

"In the household he was boss. There was no doubt of that. But he had great humor."

"We had a very full relationship as father and daughter, and nothing that should be done was left undone, and therefore I did not grieve too much when he died. We had done so much together. We were very close."

With June Lockhart herself it has been pretty much a case of "like father, like daughter." She is blonde and blue-eyed, witty and pretty, warm-hearted and wonderfully likeable because she is still wonderfully natural.

June never has had an acting lesson—and never needed one, since she was born to the theater. She made her professional debut when she was eight as Mimsey in the Metropolitan Opera's "Peter Ibbetson."

Her role as the ingenue in "For Love or Money" made her the toast of Broadway in 1947.

Since then June has appeared in a number of plays, some 15 movies, and scores of television plays. She is as hard-working as her father was, and has his same pride in his craft.

Her hobby is politics, a field in which she thinks some of the best acting in America is done. In presidential years she likes to travel with the campaign trains.

"I have no desire at all to run for office myself," she said. "But the theatrical aspects of politics fascinate me. I do love to watch a really smooth politician perform."

News of Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I can't take it any more. I'm getting out. I see no reason to stay here and get poisoned."

These dramatic words came from the real-life conversation of Cary Grant. His complaint: Los Angeles' smog.

"I've had it," said the actor as he basked in the smog-filtered sunshine outside the "Operation Petticoat" set. He was basking his face with an aluminum reflecting sheet—he has always kept his face tan to avoid using makeup.

Grant is a health bug. But he claims one can't stay healthy while breathing smog.

"Fortunately, I don't have to stay here," he remarked. "I can go to Europe and make pictures. And that's what I'm going to do, just as soon as I can get squared away."

"It's a shame that smog has ruined this city. I can remember what a wonderful town it was when I first came here. It's not so wonderful any more."

Tony Curtis, same picture, was chortling about his business acumen. A local moneyman offered to buy out Tony's interest in "The Vikings" for a half-million dollars. The actor didn't sell.

"So far my returns from the picture have been $680,000," he reported, "and large parts of Europe haven't been heard from yet."

The lad is liable to get even richer from his share of "Some Like It Hot." The picture may well be the most talked-about and most-seen film of the year.

It is a rocking, swinging delight, the most outrageously funny movie in years. Both Tony and Jack Lemmon are great as the masqueraders in an all-girl band, with never an objectionable note. Marilyn Monroe never looked better; all the trouble Billy Wilder had with her on the film appears worth it. Joe E. Brown also is a big hit after being away from the screen much too long.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel production, employment and payrolls scored all kinds of records during the first two months of the year, the American Iron and Steel Institute reported Thursday.

Total production for February, estimated at 9,603,000 net tons, was the highest monthly total since 9,792,323 tons in May 1957. Mills operated at an average 84.4 per cent of capacity, the institute said, compared with 74.3 per cent in January.

For the two months furnaces produced close to 19 millions tons of ingots and steel for castings.

The payroll for salaried and hourly workers of institute members total $332,350,807 during January or more than 48 millions above January 1957. Employment was 554,636, almost 11 per cent above the low point reached in May 1958 and compared with 547,902 in December 1958. In January the average work week was 38.1 hours, up from 37.3 hours in December 1958.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

Heaven help the American family if women shopped for food as carelessly as they do for clothes, says Edith Head, Hollywood's most famous designer and author of a just-published autobiography, "The Dress Doctor."

"Most women are perceptive about their homes, their furniture, their children and their meals," says the small, dynamic Edith, who has dressed most of the famous movie stars from Clara Bow to Sophia Loren. "But the average woman has a blind spot when she looks at herself."

Miss Head, a former French teacher in California schools, is fashion chief for Paramount Pictures, a post which she has held through a generation of movie glamor girls. She lives in Beverly Hills with her husband, Ward Line; designs all her own clothes as well as those of the stars.

"Fashion can be whimsy," says she, "but dressing well doesn't just happen. Dress designing is not cute, but clinical and strictly scientific. I make up my clothing prescriptions as seriously as any doctor. And believe me, some of my 'patients' need them."

There's no excuse for a woman being badly dressed today, says Edith. She feels strongly about the general appearance of the American woman in the supermarket.

"So many women seem to feel that they're invisible when they go shopping, so they turn up at the market wearing everything from tattered pants to house dresses, with their hair in pin-curls and any old shoes at hand," she says.

THE FIFTIETH STATE

Too late for publication in Thursday's issue an Associated Press dispatch brought the news that Congress had voted admission of Hawaii to the Union as the fiftieth state.

The "aloha" for the statehood long-awaited by the tropical Pacific islands came when the House gave final approval to the bill passed by the Senate 76-15 Wednesday night.

The House action sent the bill on to President Eisenhower whose signature is assured.

The actual admission will be delayed for several months by the mechanics of procedure which includes holding an election in Hawaii. It likely will be late July, possibly as late as October, before the 50th state formally joins the Union.

As the House roll call reached the 218 affirmative votes needed for passage, Gov. William F. Quinn, who was waiting in Washington, telephoned a signal for bonfire celebrations to be touched off in Hawaii.

It was a moment the 575,000 residents of the last incorporated territory under the American flag had awaited for more than 50 years.

Hawaii will be the first island state. But Alaska's admission as the 49th state had already broken through a long argument against admitting territories not joined geographically to the other states.

NATIONAL WILDLIFE WEEK

We are happy to comply with a request that special mention be made of the fact that National Wildlife Week, March 15 to 21, will be observed by many groups and organizations in this area as well as throughout the country.

The theme selected by National Wildlife Federation and its state affiliates is "Conservation in the Schools," as part of their conservation-education program. Those promoting the project pointing out that "people's concern for the lands upon which we live must be installed in our younger generations through the teaching of conservation in the schools."

By learning about our resources and the care we must give them, young people will see that a good share of the world's troubles stem directly from past failures to learn to live with the land, instead of against it.

It is argued that if conservation is not being taught in the schools, it should be—in grade and high schools.

Cheer up—one week from tomorrow will be the first day of spring!

In case you survived today's unlucky Friday the 13th, be consoled by the fact that two such combinations in consecutive months will not occur again for six years!

WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW
 Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's tough stand against the Soviet Union on Berlin apparently is based on the belief that the United States could smash the Soviets in an all-out war—if it comes any time soon.

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy has expressed such a view repeatedly in recent weeks. So have others. They are basing their faith on American bombers, not on ground troops.

Eisenhower himself this week ruled out land war by conceding the United States and its allies are far outmatched by the Soviets on the ground. He did not rule out nuclear war.

Nuclear war would have to be carried out by the American Strategic Air Command, which could strike from bases around the U.S.S.R. American reliance on bombers will change as both this country and the Soviet Union develop missiles.

Democrats in Congress have protested that the administration is letting the Soviets gain an ever widening lead in missiles. Eisenhower replies that he knows exactly what he's doing.

On Jan. 20 McElroy said the United States has forces ready "to destroy any nation attacking our country." Again on March 2 he said this country has "definite offensive superiority over the Soviets at this time."

Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga.) skeptical about American superiority as late as Jan. 20, began sounding optimistic.

On Jan. 26 Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said: "From the many bases that surround the Soviet Union we could devastate them. Only a madman would start a war now." He stressed the superiority of the Strategic Air Command. So did Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

But when it comes to missiles—the ultimate weapons of the future—Russell said: "No question that Soviet Russia is ahead of us."

Even if this country has destructive superiority now and if the Soviets gain it in the not-too-distant future, both situations raise painful questions.

The Western alliance is holding together against Premier Nikita Khrushchev's demand that the Allies get their troops out of Berlin. No one knows for sure why he chose to precipitate a crisis over Berlin now.

There could be several reasons: to gain Western recognition for the Communist East German regime; to weaken the West's will to resist just a little bit by trying to force the West into concessions to avoid a showdown that might mean war; or, through Western fear of war, alliance.

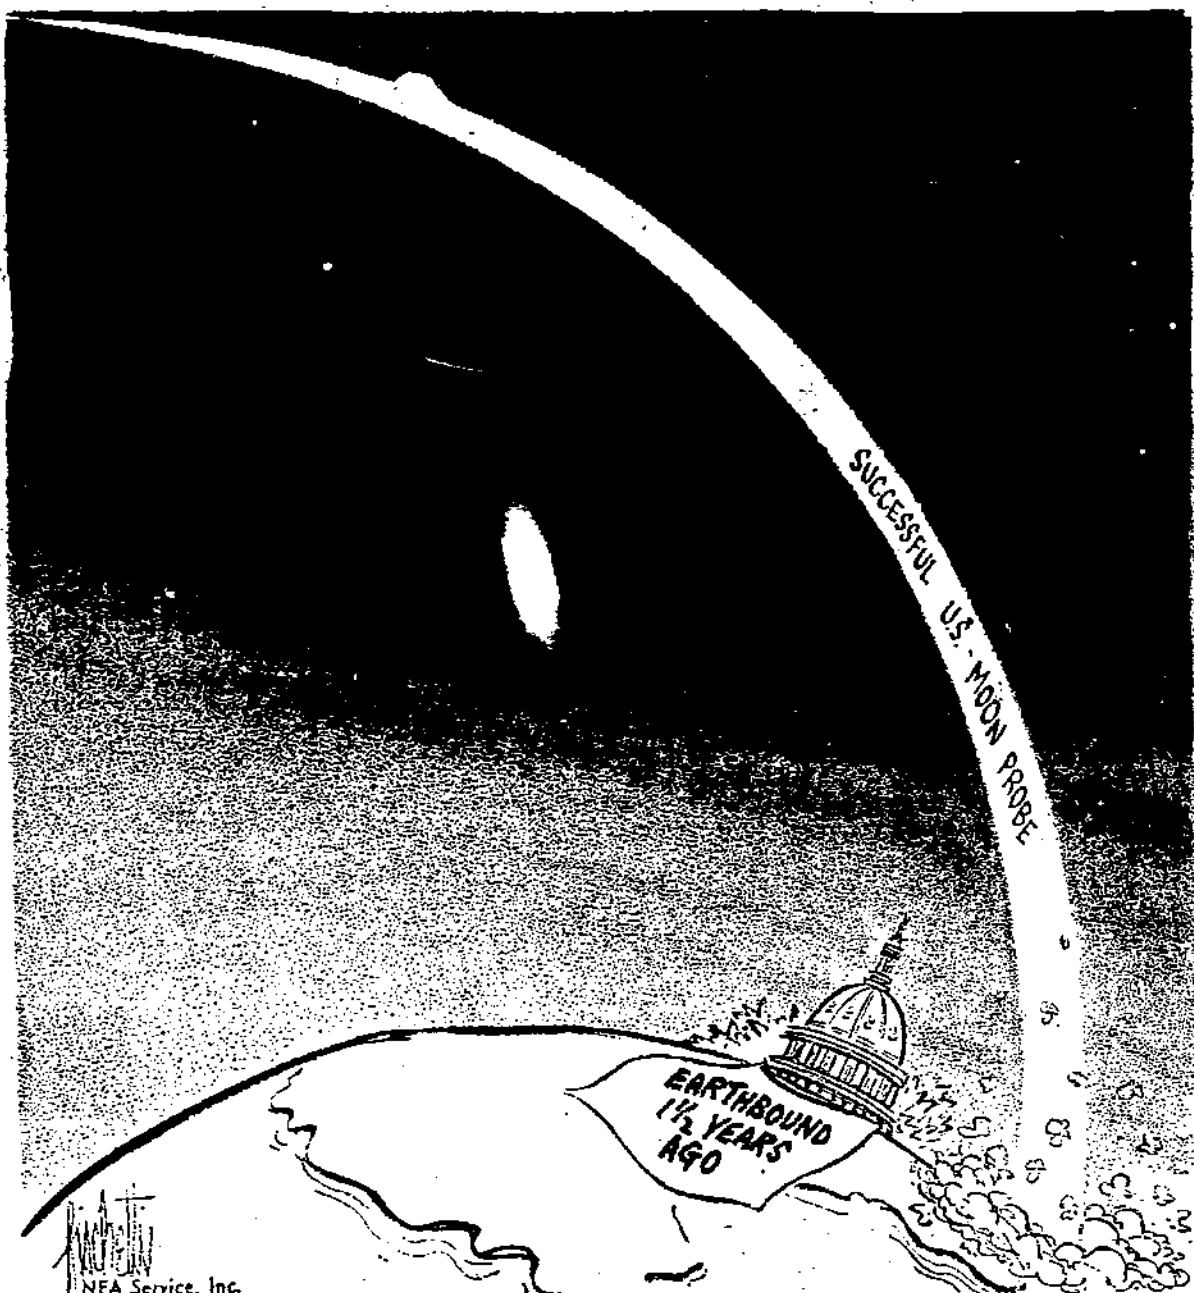

By not ruling out the possibility of nuclear war, Eisenhower actually raised the possibility of it. In a nuclear war the Soviets even though being smashed at home, would seek to retaliate in kind, the nearest target is Western Europe.

What looks like a solid Western alliance now might fall apart if this country's European allies came up to the brink of their own devastation over the question of refusing to budge on Berlin.

If the Soviets in a few years have missile superiority—missiles that could crush Western Europe and missiles that could cross the ocean to hit this country—what will this do to American toughness and will to resist?

These are all questions simmering in the Berlin kettle and the arguments between the administration and the Democrats over future defense plans.

Triumphant Arc

Here and There

Pennsylvania car owners can deduct a large part of the gasoline tax paid in 1958 from their Federal income tax. The Associated Petroleum Industries of Pennsylvania noted that the Internal Revenue Service instructions specifically allow itemized deductions for state gasoline taxes, auto license fees and state and local retail sales taxes. The added three-cent federal gasoline tax, however, is not deductible. Pennsylvania's state gasoline tax now five cents a gallon, was the same in 1958, and cost motorists a total of $170 million. Associated Chairman Dayton P. Clark notes that 754 gallons a year is the figure the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads gives as the average consumption of motor fuel per vehicle in Pennsylvania, but he pointed out that this is merely a guide and that individual gasoline tax deductions must be computed in terms of actual car usage and fuel consumption.

Eighty years ago this week (March 14, 1879 to be exact), the Warren Ledger carried a story of much interest to readers of that day under the heading "The Warren Narrow Gauge Railroad," which contained this information: "During the past week great efforts have been made by a number of our enterprising and moneyed citizens to complete the arrangements for the building of a narrow gauge railroad from Warren to Bradford. Something has been done, but not enough, we are sorry to state, to enable us to say with certainty that the enterprise will succeed. To bring it to certain success will require the combined efforts of all our business men and capitalists. Hon. Thomas Struthers, the president of the company, is devoting his time and executive ability to the work, and he is seconded by a number of men equally enterprising, who are fast impressing the needs of this road upon the minds of the people. Surely, if a man of the age of Mr. Struthers can see the benefits that this road will be to Warren, others younger, and who have years of active life before them, should feel a deeper interest, and to a certain degree, they do. There is now a large committee at work soliciting subscriptions to the stock and bonds, and some progress is being made. At a late meeting of the committee, it was ascertained that half the stock, which is $200,000, would be taken, by the capitalists present. The road is needed by the public and the oil interests; it is needed to revive business and to add to the population and wealth of Warren, and the development of the country, through which it will pass. It will enrich the owners of the stock and is of so much general and special interest that there should be no hesitancy or delay in the matter of funds. Titusville wants the road and is working to assist. But our own people are to be the direct gainers, and should not sleep, before the stock is taken. On the same subject another item, in the local column has this comment: "The Oil City Derrick is urging citizens of that town to build a narrow gauge railroad to Bradford as an incentive, says it's only sixty miles from Bradford, in a straight line. Unfortunately this straight line is full of high hills and deep gulfs, and a road could be constructed only on the kite principle. It is fifteen miles from Oil City to Tionesta, thirty-five miles from that place to Sheffield, and twenty-seven miles more to Bradford, the total distance being eighty-seven miles. With a road from Warren to Bradford, Oil City people could reach the last named city by roads now built, with just a four mile ride farther. It would cost $800,000 to build the road from Warren to Bradford, while to build such a road from Oil City to Bradford would cost $50,000, a considerable difference, considering that oil is worth but eighty-five cents a barrel at the present time." Along with that paragraph appears this one: "The Titusville Herald is becoming the leading local daily for the region. Its setup is better every day. It wants the narrow gauge built, and is willing to aid in its construction, provided Titusville can have all the advantages, we suppose. Titusville has a large number of enterprising men, who will locate in Warren on the completion of the road."

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
 A PBusiness News Analyst
 NEW YORK (AP) — By linking oil imports to the price of petroleum the government may soon confer on gasoline the status of sugar.

The price of sugar has been subject to government supervision for years. It is controlled by raising or lowering the amount of sugar that may be imported into the United States.

The new curbs on oil imports are accompanied today by reassurances to the consumer that the government henceforth will police the price of oil and its products.

The broader question of curbing oil imports is complicated. It involves everything from the health of the domestic producers to the health of those domestic refiners who depend largely on foreign oil; from encouraging more hunting for oil here to conserving our resources by living off others; from protecting price levels the domestic industry deems bedrock to infuriating allied nations who find us the best market for their oil.

Leaving these industrial and political issues to others to tackle, let's look only at the consumer.

Most foreign oil can be produced and delivered to U.S. shore points more cheaply than can domestic oil. When oil imports rise they weaken domestic prices. This is the chief complaint of the domestic producers and their fight for curbs on oil imports is natural.

When oil imports are curbed this weakening of prices is less, or disappears altogether. If the curbs are strong enough, the domestic price may be in a position to rise.

But the government is promising that if prices rise higher than it thinks the consumer should be asked to pay, it will step in and lower the import curbs until enough cheaper foreign oil flows in to force the price down to what the government deems right for you.

Critics of government price controls, however, recall other times that the government has tried to clamp down on free markets that work on the law of supply and demand. Sometimes it has tried to reach its end by controlling supplies. Sometimes by trying to control wages.

Even in wartime, controls have often led to black markets. In peacetimes they have sometimes led to open producer, labor and consumer revolts.

Through all the din that will be sounded while the oil industry and the politicians and the diplomats struggle to adapt to, or to overthrow the new oil curbs, it will be interesting to watch the fate of the consumer.

HEART AND BRAIN CIRCULATION

The brain cannot run without oxygen; faintness and dizziness occur within a few moments after it is withheld. The heart plays an important role in supplying the brain with blood but until recently the relationship between these two organs has not received the proper recognition.

A 50 year old executive was in a general hospital having an operation on his heart to improve circulation to the brain. The man was developing attacks of lightheadedness and had fainted on several occasions.

The cause of these attacks was traced to poor circulation to the brain, which in turn stemmed from a poorly functioning heart. The aim of the operation was to improve the blood supply to the heart muscle so the organ could pump harder to bring more blood to the brain.

The gray matter is extremely sensitive to lack of blood. Minor symptoms such as dizziness, lightheadedness, restlessness, apprehension, and faintness follow temporary lack of oxygen. If the tissues are deprived of blood for more than 10 min. convulsions, disturbed emotional states, and paralysis may ensue.

Heart attacks frequently are associated with symptoms of brain involvement varying from lightheadedness to complete unconsciousness. In such instances the blood flow is sluggish because the heart beat is irregular or feeble or the organ has stopped temporarily.

When a stroke follows a heart attack, the cause usually is traced to clots that have developed in the wall of the left ventricle. This is not a common complication but is one of the reasons why an anticoagulant is given to a person who has had a heart attack.

COLD WEATHER COLDS
 M. N. writes: I catch cold every autumn and it stays with me all winter. This is a great handicap in my job. Is there any way it could be prevented?

REPLY
 A change of environment, job, or climate is the only answer if you are following the rules of health to the letter in an effort to build resistance during this time of the year. Seasonal colds may be allergic in nature. In others, the nasal membranes cannot adapt to the quick changes in temperature associated with leaving over-heated rooms to go out into wintry blasts. Many persons become more susceptible to winter colds because the living and working quarters lack humidity.

LARGE VEIN ON FACE
 Mrs. R. writes: I have a disfiguring protruding vein extending from the corner of the mouth to nearly the chin line which makes that side of the face look as tho it were sagging. Can this vein be removed in the same way as a varicose vein in the leg?

REPLY
 Yes, but obtain first-hand advice on a problem of this nature. It is unusual for a vein in this area to enlarge.

PERFORATED EARDRUM
 D. G. writes: Is there any way to close a hole in a perforated eardrum?

REPLY
 Yes, Spontaneous closure is encouraged by controlling infection in the ear and keeping the outer canal and drum clean. Plastic surgery may be necessary if these conservative measures fail.

VARICOSEITY AND PHEBITIS
 D. J. writes: Could a varicose vein be responsible for phlebitis in the leg?

REPLY
 Yes.

TEEN-AGE NOSE
 M. N. writes: Is age 15 too young to have nose bump removed by plastic surgery?

REPLY
 No, but many plastic surgeons prefer to wait until growth is complete.

Unasked Questions Hang At Ike's Press Sessions

By PETER EDSON
 NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Eisenhower's news conferences have to do double duty while Secretary of State Dulles is hospitalized.

Secretary Dulles held his last Washington press conference Jan. 27. Since then no top State Department official has given newsmen complete answers to questions which keep the public adequately informed on foreign policy developments.

To fill this gap, President Eisenhower has held news conferences every week since Jan. 15, unusual for him.

But the President's conferences are limited to half an hour. They necessarily deal with domestic politics, congressional relations, budget balancing, his health, and miscellaneous like appointments to Tennessee Valley Authority or whether Mamie will bust a bottle over some boat.

QUESTIONS TO THE PRESIDENT on foreign policy get answers from the official constitutionally responsible for the conduct of international relations. But they do not give all the detailed information which Secretary Dulles used to reveal from his encyclopedic knowledge.

Furthermore, Dulles' conferences were allowed to run 45 minutes or an hour, until all loose ends were tied up.

At President Eisenhower's last conference, questions on anti-American demonstrations in Bolivia never got asked.

To cover information gaps of this kind, suggestions have been made that Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter hold weekly news conferences.

DEMANDS FOR GREATER American preparedness to meet the Berlin crisis are beginning to be heard. Ex-Secretary of State Dean Acheson calls for complete NATO mobilization. Rep. Daniel A. Flood (D-Pa.) demands that Strategic Air Command be taken off ground-alert and a third of its planes kept in the air at all times. Ex-Gov. Adlai Stevenson writes a piece with the provocative title, "This Time We Might Get Licked."

All these alarms express a growing feeling that the country is drifting towards a Berlin showdown which could be another Pearl Harbor.

President Eisenhower at his last press conference made some effort to keep people away from the panic buttons. . . . There may be a need for keeping some SAC bombers in the air at a later time, but not now. . . . There is no need for general mobilization. . . . There is no circumstance which might make it necessary for America to strike the first blow against aggression. . . . We ought not think we are apt to get a bombing attack on Washington. . . .

ANSWERS LIKE THESE are not considered completely satisfactory to administration critics.

When Secretary Dulles was on the job and at his best, he could take a week's rumors, false premises and cockeyed solutions for imponderable crisis, straighten them all out and lay them in a neat and logical row, like corpses.

This would calm everybody down for another week. It would usually be done on a Tuesday morning. A lot of questions would be cleared up so that the President wouldn't have to bother with them 24 hours later.

Restoration of this routine is being considered as even more necessary now, when the administration is facing one of its most difficult problems in public relations.

BPW Club Hears Fuellhart Speak On Civil Defense

Warren Business and Professional Women's Club held its monthly dinner-meeting at the YWCA cafeteria Tuesday evening. Attractive table decorations in a St. Patrick's theme, supplemented by geiger counters, gave emphasis to the evening's program on Civil Defense.

W. C. Fuellhart, Civil Defense chairman, told of the development of the program from the days when the purpose was for the protection of life and property against enemy action and its inception to the present-day when it acts in times of natural disaster as well.

He said that Civil Defense is an entirely voluntary organization with the goal—A citizen educated, trained, and equipped to take care of themselves in any disaster.

His comprehensive description of the functions and preparedness of the thirteen divisions of the Warren County organization impressed his hearers with the fact that every volunteer can be used; and that every citizen should make it a point to become informed regarding the place of the individual in the program.

Marion Davis presided at the business session. Viola Flowers, Neva Ladner and Sarah Jane Hartman were elected delegates to the spring district meeting in Sharon May 2; alternates, Hulda Angemann, Norma Inter, Margaret Roth. Don't Always Fret About Explaining Your Reasons

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Recently a neighbor of ours took her six-year-old shopping for shoes. Afterwards they stopped in at an ice cream parlor. As James' mother paid the cashier, he became interested in the candy display. Joining him she said, "Come on. It's time to get home. The three words he spoke have become a vogue among the children in my city. Continuing to drift along the candy counter, he said, "Explain me why."

She was tired—and had had all she could take of "Explain me why." She said, "Because I say so."

Like Japanese beetles, a phrase like "Explain me why" can't be confined to one area of our country. When it starts badgering you I hope you respond to it with a firm "Because I say so."

Because today's children know all about our need to justify our denial of what they want. They know that we want to appear right to them more than anything else in the world.

They have become adept at exploiting this need with phrases like "Explain me why." They force us to rally every reason we can think of to make ourselves sound irrefragable.

Like James, they seldom feel any genuine interest in our reason for wanting them to leave candy counters to go to bed or read the TV volume. They have just discovered that "Explain me why" keeps us busy trying to justify what we want while they continue to do what they want.

The response "Because I say so" is a very good experience for them.

It's good experience because no authority is ever perfectly reasonable.

So we have no moral right to try and present ours as always perfectly reasonable. Like us, children have to learn to pull over to curbs whether the traffic cop explains his order or not. They're going to have to rush letters through for their bosses whether or not his demand for speed seems reasonable.

While any self-respecting adult has to take issue with authority when it violates integrity, no sensible person asks perfection from it. People who want reasons for everything you ask them to do are just as boring as people who never want any.

True Friend Won't Ignore Behind-the-Back Gossip

If you're really a friend—
You'll listen to a friend's troubles, never repeating what you've heard and never bringing up the matter again, you'll let your friend forget what he wants to forget.
You'll never sit silent when a friend is under attack, but will rise to his defense, even if it makes you unpopular with those who have made the remarks.
You'll be genuinely pleased when good fortune comes your friend's way and have no desire to belittle it.
You won't be jealous because he has other friends and interests that do not include you. You won't try to monopolize him.
You won't trade on his friendship to get more from him than you offer in return. And your friendship won't cool just because someone else doesn't care for him.
You will be there when he needs you, whether it is convenient or not. And if it isn't convenient you won't let him know that.
Being a real friend isn't easy, or always convenient or always to one's advantage. But it is worth whatever unselfishness and loyalty is required!
If you aren't a real friend you won't have real friends. It's as simple and logical as that.

able these days to complain that American youth is not vigorous or hard working as youth behind the Iron Curtain. On the 47th anniversary of Girl Scouting in the United States, we would like to point out that many youngsters in Girl Scouting and in other youth groups are learning to grow up as alert, self-disciplined and useful citizens. Last year, for example, a 17-year old Girl Scout won a national science award for her individual research work in astronomy. While not many Girl Scouts are likely to become astronomers, more than three and one half million Girl Scouts are learning how valuable our freedoms and traditions are. Even more important, they are learning that a democracy depends on citizens who are willing to serve their communities. The Girl Scouts are celebrating their anniversary this year with the theme, "You Can Count on Her to be Creative." Special emphasis is being given to arts, homemaking and service projects because the Girl Scouts believe that it is essential for every youngster to develop self confidence and initiative as well as specific talents. This is a very different kind of youth program than those behind the Iron Curtain and one that all of us can be proud of. Men and women who serve as volunteers in the Girl Scouts and in other youth groups should be congratulated. They are not only helping youngsters, they are serving their country as well.

Architects Go Against Tall, Costly Buildings

Empire State Building probably won't have any competition - no lightweight - for some time to come. Chances are slim that anyone would be willing to finance construction of such a building - in fact 40 stories high is apt to be the limit.

High construction costs make it impractical to build skyscrapers any higher than 40 stories, and most investors are interested in the all-purpose building that will give the greatest return under current market conditions.

Advances in construction methods, in structural and mechanical techniques and in materials, may make it economically feasible to build taller skyscrapers in the future. But if so, it will require an equally outsize plot and a prestige tenant.

Minimum height of a building should be such that net income will at least amortize initial construction costs, according to a New York contractor. Whether the building should be higher than the minimum depends on how much the investors want to spend.

Height invokes a cost penalty. To build the 38th floor of a building costs twice as much as the second floor.

When the late Major Patton invented the takeout double some 45 years back he started a revolution in auction bridge. Prior to that time no one had ever dreamt of bidding a four-card suit but the takeout double made you bid and sometimes your longest suit would be only a four-carder.

It didn't take experts long to discover that four opposite holdings and four-card suits were here to stay.

Today's hand is a good illustration of the power of four opposite four. South wins the second diamond lead in dummy and promptly plays out the ace and king of trumps. The bad trump break is annoying but not fatal.

South takes his ace and king of spades and ruffs a third spade in dummy. He comes back to his hand with the king of clubs and ruffs another spade. The ace of clubs and a club ruff give him his contract and West makes the last two tricks with his high trumps.

Project Won't Disturb Tourists' Falls Interest

Niagara Falls, mecca for honeymooners and other visitors is now being tapped for Niagara power project, largest in the free world. But tourists' interests are not being overlooked.

The project, with a generating capacity of 2.19 million kilowatts, is located in the midst of some of the most highly industrialized countryside in the nation. To feed power to this area, and still not divert any of the flow from the majestic falls, engineers will build the largest pump storage project ever undertaken in this country.

Not even Niagara has enough water to meet demands of tourists and industry, which coincide during daytime. Minimum daytime flow over the Falls, specified by a U. S. -Canada treaty, is 100,000 cubic feet a second during the tourist season. This can be reduced at night to 50,000 cubic feet a second and the extra water stored for use when daytime demand exceeds normal flow.

Power demands in the lowflow months of October and December can thus be met. Pumped storage plan increases by at least 60 per cent the amount of firm power available from the project.

Letters to Editor

Warren, Pa.

Letter to the Editor

"We read of George Washington and his battles with a few soldiers to fight Indians and Redcoats and how in the end he made friends with all of them. Warren county should have another George Washington—and right now. He could fight 'old man river' and win out, I am sure.

The way it looks now we will have to wait for the Kinzua Dam. In the meantime, we will have more floods and possibly lose some industries and the south and west sides and Lexington avenue will have to stand it.

I told you in my recent letter of a picture of one flood in 1865, which was 54 years ago, and I guess that flood will have an anniversary in 1965 with no protection as yet!

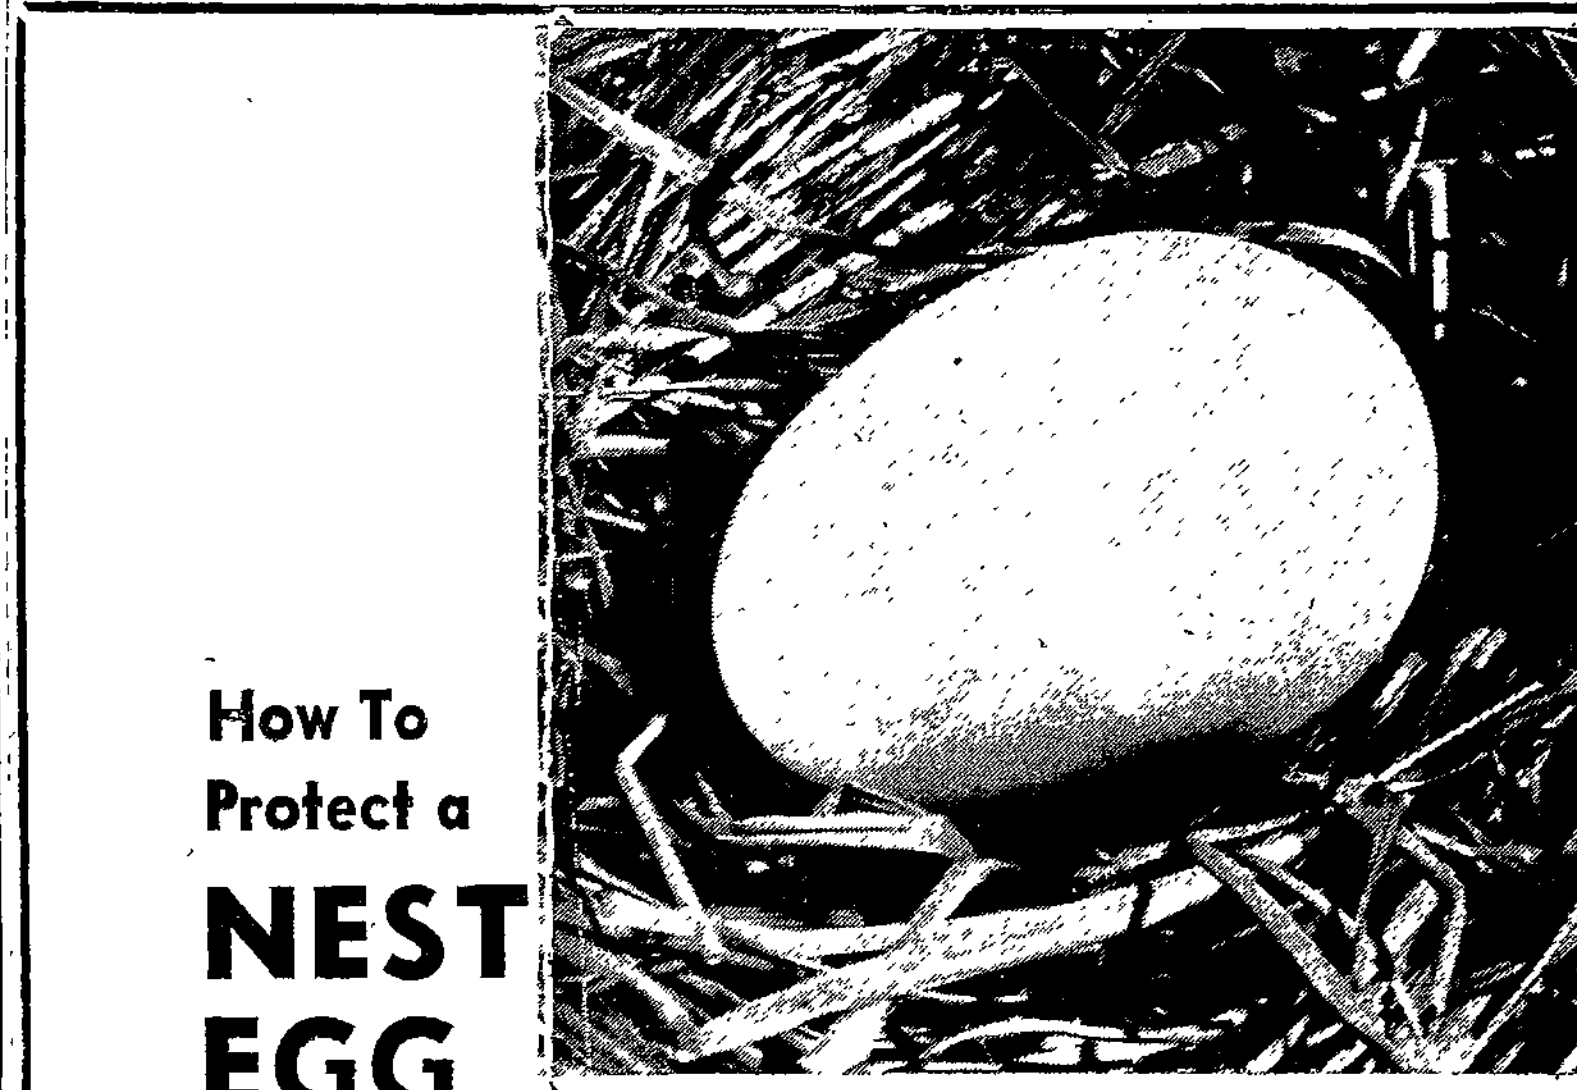

Warren people and others are building new homes on the hill-sides and should be above floods, but let us pray for those on the "low lands".

Hello, Florida, here we come."

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Each Friday, amid the tensions, wars and tyrannies of the Middle East, a dedicated band of Franciscan Fathers relives the events of the Via Dolorosa, the last path of Jesus Christ from His condemnation to His tomb.

Recently, I joined them in their sad journey past the stations where Jesus received his cross, where Simon of Cyrene helped Him to carry it, where He met the women of Jerusalem, and on to Calvary.

I marveled that, throughout the years of man-made violence that have swept the Holy Land, this simple act of devotion has prevailed for six centuries, demonstrating that the enduring love Christ taught us is stronger than the passing tensions of the day.

Oddities in the News

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Sam Scott, 42, of nearby Robstown, was completely buried for 10 minutes Thursday when a cesspool he was digging caved in on him.

His nephew, Wayne Muckelroy, 20, Robstown, frantically clawed loose sand from Scott's head until it was cleared. Oxygen was fed him through a tube and mask until the crushing sand could be dug away.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — One by one, five of the six men accused of shooting dice proclaimed their innocence Thursday before City Court Judge Beverly Boushe.

ELISNORE, Calif. (AP) — A judge has sentenced the son of a prominent Lake Elsinore family to six months in jail for starting one of California's largest brush fires with an incendiary bullet. Jerry H. Stewart, 21, was also fined $150 and placed on three years probation by Judge Stanley S. Root.

The fire, which took one life, swept 66,000 acres in three counties in the Cleveland National Forest Area last Dec. 14-17.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Wealthy business man Kris Albert is charged with offering a man $5,000 to kill his crippled wife.

State Egg Production Shows Good Increase

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's egg production last month totaled 301 million—a 9 per cent jump over output for February 1958.

The State Agriculture Department Thursday attributed the increase to favorable weather and a larger number of laying hens.

Egg prices dropped about 2½ cents a dozen from January to February to a statewide average of 40½ cents at the farm, the department reported. The Pennsylvania egg price, however, was almost five cents a dozen more than the national average.

'NEW YORK (AP) — Although there's not a great deal in the way of "special" entertainment on the three major television networks in the coming week, there's still a good deal to see by twisting the dial (all times Eastern Standard):

"Captain Kangaroo," the popular CBS children's program, celebrates its 1,000th telecast Saturday at 10:30 a.m. with a group of special guests.

Speaking of popularity, I'm going to take an look at the Dick Clark Show on ABC Saturday at 7:30—just to see why this department is flooded with more requests for tickets to the show than possibly can be obtained.

Sunday at 2:30 on NBC there will be a playoff in the eastern division of the National Basketball Assn. between the New York Knickerbockers and the Syracuse Nationals.

At 5 on Sunday "Omnibus" presents George M. Cohan's musical comedy, "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" over NBC. Tammy Grimes and Larry Blyden are starred.

In a move apparently calculated to try to dig into the "Maverick" audience on ABC, the Steve Allen Show moves back to 7:30 on NBC

Sunday and is expanded to 90 minutes this Sunday and again on March 22. Allen's guests include Charlton Heston, Debra Paget, Peter Lawford, Jonathan Winters, Jayne Meadows.

At 8 on CBS the Ed Sullivan Show celebrates St. Patrick's Day with guests live from New York and a special film sequence filmed in Ireland.

Singer Frances Langford presents a special hour show on NBC Sunday at 10. Appearing with her will be Hugh O'Brian, Julie London, Edgar Bergen, George Sanders, Jerry Colonna and Bob Hope.

At 10 on Monday over CBS "Desilu Playhouse" presents "The Innocent Assassin," a story of a young couple caught in the violence of the Irish Rebellion of 1921. The drama co-stars Piper Laurie and James MacArthur.

Wednesday at 10 Jack Benny presents an hour variety show on CBS. Mitzl Gaynor sings and dances and joins Benny for comedy routines. Ventriloquist Senior Vences, the Marquis Family of chimpanzees—and possibly Bob Hope—will appear.

The second part of the two-part "For Whom the Bell Tolls" will be presented on "Playhouse 90" Thursday at 9:30 over CBS.

Last Major Team Takes The Slides In A.B.C. Tourney

ST. LOUIS (AP) — One of the last major teams scheduled to roll in the American Bowling Congress Tournament gets its chance at the Detroit Piffers' record score to night.

The Chicago Meister Braus will shoot at the 3243 total which put Piffers in first place of the open team division on Feb. 23.

The Piffers have had some harrowing moments this week. Leonard Sales of St. Louis, a long-shot contender, came as close as 3185 and took third place, Thursday night. Piffers' hometown rivals, Strohl's Beer, rolled 3115 for fourth place.

Strohl's appeared headed for even better things when they opened with 1062 and then rolled 1063. But the team collapsed in the finale with a 990.

There was no change Thursday in the top 10 standings of the singles, doubles, all-events and booster team divisions.

Injury May Sideline Willie Several Weeks

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Willie Mays, sitting quietly at home with a painful bone-deep gash in his right leg, said today he may be out of the San Francisco lineup for "three or four weeks."

The $30,000 centerfielder split his leg sliding into home during an exhibition game with the Boston Red Sox Thursday at nearby Scottsdale. He said he ripped his leg against the shin guard of Sox catcher Sammy White.

Few of the 2,933 fans who saw the 7-4 Boston victory realized Mays had been injured as he scored the sixth-inning run on a dash home from second base.

Assisted by a couple of teammates, Mays ran quickly to the Giant dugout. He was rushed immediately to a hospital, where the stitches were taken by Dr. Walter Zuschke.

McKenney Stakes Boston Team to Playoff Berth

BOSTON (AP) — Don McKenney, Mr. Consistency, has staked Boston to a National Hockey League playoff berth.

McKenney scored the deciding goal and produced three assists Thursday night as the Bruins edged New York 5-4.

If the third-place Bruins lost their remaining five games and Toronto won its five, the teams would be tied at 65 points apiece. However, the NHL rules specify that in such instance the playoff spot goes to the team with the most victories.

The Bruins already have won 28. Five more triumphs would give Toronto 27.

WHO'S ON FIRST?
Battle for starting assignment at first base for Pittsburgh is shaping up into an interesting one. Dick Stuart feels confident he can hit 30 to 40 HRs if he plays regularly. Veteran Ted Kluszewski is showing no trace of his back ailment and is swinging with gusto. Rocky Nelson is banging out hits right and left in camp games. So as the late Lou Costello used to say to Bud Abbott, "Who's on first?" is the favorite question at Ft. Myers.

Pettit NBA Champion

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Pettit is the National Basketball Assn. scoring champion this season — and an author of sorts, to boot. He almost singlehandedly rewrote the NBA record book, final statistics revealed today.

The St. Louis Hawks star set six major records, breaking only one of his own in addition, Bill Sharman, Bob Cousy and Bill Russell of Boston, and Kenny Sears of New York, also set new records.

Pettit scored the most points (2,105); had the highest per game average (29.2); most field goals scored (719); most free throws attempted (879); most free throws made (667); and most 50-point games in a season (3).

Knicks Favored Over Syracuse In Opener

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Assn. playoffs open tonight with the New York Knicks-Embers favored by five points over the Syracuse Nats.

The Knicks-Nats battle kicks off a best-of-three Eastern Division series for the right to meet the regular-season Eastern champion Boston Celtics in a best-of-7 battle.

The Western division playoffs get under way Saturday in St. Paul where Minneapolis meets Detroit. The winner of two games the St. Louis Hawks, this year in the Western set goes against Western season champs and the defending NBA titleholders.

Butler Ready To Upset At Garden?

NEW YORK (AP) — Is bold, ball-hawking Butler the "hot" team for the National Invitation Tournament — the annual Madison Square Garden basketball scramble that thrives on upsets?

They're asking that question today after the pin-point shooting, quick moves and all-around excellence the unheralded Bulldogs from Indianapolis showed Thursday night in the opening first round doubleheader of the 22nd annual tournament.

Many would say "yes" to the number club that pasted Fordham 94-80 before St. John's (NY) produced an expected 75-67 victory over Villanova.

The answer comes Saturday night, when Butler plays its quarterfinal match with top-seeded Bradley. If Tony Hinkle's Bulldogs can spill the big Braves from Peoria, Ill., there could be no stopping them.

Yama Bahama Takes On Greaves Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Yama Bahama of Bimini in the Bahamas must want to be middleweight champion real bad.

Otherwise, how do you figure this out? Asked how his life was in Bimini, Yama replied.

"Real nice. Good pay as a fishing guide. Fine fishing. Climate never gets cold."

So where does Yama live now? In the Bronx, where the snow lies deep.

Bahama, fights Wilbe Greaves, the Canadian middleweight champion from Edmonton and Detroit, in a 10-round television (NBC, 10 p.m., EST) fight at Madison Square Garden tonight. Greaves is a 7-5 favorite.

Rocky Nelson In Strong Bid for Regular Berth

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — First baseman Rocky Nelson is making things difficult in a pleasant sort of way, for Manager Danny Murtaugh of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Few clubs carry three first basemen and Murtaugh already has two established stars to pick from — Ted Kluszewski and Dick Stuart. So what is Danny to do?

Nelson, making his eighth try in the big leagues, isn't helping him any Rocky slammed three hits in four trips Thursday and one-day last week put on another impressive performance by driving in the winning run.

Sympathy from other managers.

Sugar Ray Has Million Dollar Offer for Fight

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson today pondered over an offer of a guaranteed million dollar gate for what may be his last fight—a battle of champions with Archie Moore in Yankee Stadium in September.

The bid was made by promoter Bill Rosenzohn in a conference said he plans to follow it up with a talk with Moore, the 42-year-old light heavyweight champion.

Rosenzohn, who has the Floyd Patterson-Ingenmar Johansson heavyweight title fight set for Yankee Stadium in June, is aiming to sew up boxing's two greatest attractions for the big city.

The big bid means that Rosenzohn is offering at least $500,000 for Robinson, the 38-year-old middleweight champion, and Moore to divvy up. Rosenzohn said he had offered them 60 per cent of the million dollar gate plus the same percentage of the television and other receipts.

How would the 60 per cent be split?

"Down the middle of course," said Robinson, "30-30."

Moore has said that if he fights Robinson he would want "the champion's cut — 40 per cent. After all my title would be at stake, not his."

"That's the best offer we've gotten to date," said Sugar Ray. "This probably will be my last fight and I want to get as big a purse as I can. Archie also is in the twilight of his career and he wants a big one too for his next fight."

Hopes of the San Francisco Giants for the 1959 National League pennant may have suffered a serious blow Thursday. Willie Mays, star centerfielder and hitter, suffered a gash in his right leg that will keep him out of the lineup for at least "three or four weeks."

Mays received a bone-deep gash that required 35 stitches, sliding into home plate in the sixth inning of an exhibition game against the Boston Red Sox at Scottsdale, Ariz. He said he ripped his leg against the shin guard of Sammy White, Red Sox catcher.

With Mays out of the game the Red Sox scored five runs in the eighth — four of them unearned — off Paul Giel for a 7-4 victory, their fifth straight.

Pitchers Herb Score and Mike Garcia of Cleveland, both plagued by injuries last year, saw action in the Indians' 6-5, 10-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs at Tucson.

Score, making his second appearance, pitched the first three innings and held Chicago hitless. Garcia was touched for five runs and nine hits in the next two innings.

Carroll Hardy's single in the 10th drove in the winning run for Cleveland. Pitcher Moe Drabowsky of the Cubs injured his right thumb when he fouled off an inside pitch. He is expected to be sidelined about six weeks.

In other games the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 9-4 at Tampa and the New York Yankees edged the Baltimore Orioles 10-9 in 11 innings at St. Petersburg.

Five games were rained out. They were Milwaukee vs. Philadelphia at Clearwater, Chicago White Sox vs. Los Angeles at Saratoga, St. Louis vs. Detroit at Lakeland, Washington vs. Kansas City at Melbourne and Pittsburgh "B" vs. Cincinnati "B" at Tampa.

Fort Hays State Pulls Upset of NIBT Tournament

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Unheralded Fort Hays State of Kansas pulled the upset of the tournament Thursday night and became the darlings of the National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament.

The fast-breaking Kansas, seeded 15th, surprised second-ranked West Virginia Wesleyan 98-83.

Tonight's semifinals pitted Southwest Texas State against defending champion Tennessee A&I State, and Fort Hays against Pacific Lutheran, 97-65 winner Thursday night over Georgia Teachers.

Tennessee A&I, shooting for a record third straight title, still is the team to beat. The Tigers from Nashville clobbered eighth-seeded Illinois State Normal 131-74, setting two tournament records.

Their winning score was 10 points better than the previous standard, set last year by Southwest Texas, and they outdid a 12-year-old mark by scoring 55 field goals in a single game. The record was 51.

It also was A&I's 13th successive victory in tournament play over three years, which tied another record.

Southwest Texas slipped into the semifinals 80 - 78 over Lenoir Rhyne.

Mantle's OK — Just Using Muscle

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Mantle's sore shoulder may not be so serious after all. The New York Yankee's centerfielder went the route as the Yankees took 11 innings to beat Baltimore Orioles Thursday at St. Petersburg, 10-9.

Mantle complained of pain in the shoulder Monday after throwing to first base. He was ordered to take it easy and rested two days. Some Yankee players said they thought he hurt the shoulder throwing knuckle balls.

Clarendon Quint Upsets League Leading Grace

An upset was scored against Grace Methodist as Clarendon Methodist staged an attempted comeback in second half.

Local five were taken by the visitors 54-50, only after Clarendon overcame a 20-point deficit.

Clarendon, first half winners, suddenly dropped into a rut beginning second half as Grace Methodist easily climbed into first position. Clarendon's win Tuesday may put them on the right track, but they first must overcome Grace's win bulge.

Albaugh and Lane sparked the Clarendon shooting with 18 points apiece. Board work of Henry and Brian assisted in the win.

Brown led Grace quintet with 16, Branch sank 15.

Others scoring for Clarendon were Henry with 9, Brian and J. Kervin had 4, P. Kervin 1. Jensen meshed 6 for Grace, Haslet and Bech 4 each, Neilson had 3, Olson 2.

Next Tuesday finds an open date on the schedule.

Matter of FACT

Jade and China have been closely allied as far back as history records. Ages ago, the Chinese recognized the beauty and qualities of the gem and have prized it above all others. They believe it has great medicinal powers, spares the wearer from accident and misfortune and is a symbol of purity both in private and official life. In spite of its hardness and extreme toughness, the Chinese have carved jade into many fancy ornaments and useful articles.

Here's How to Thwart Gloomy Days

BY KAT SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

If you're determined to find a silver lining in the clouds of inclement weather, it might be this.

We have more time and opportunity really to enjoy our homes and to revive perhaps some long-forgotten pleasures on such days.

A blustery rainstorm and a nasty head cold may conspire to keep you from the woman's club meeting, but the combination offers a splendid opportunity to rediscover the pleasure of lunch on a pretty tray in the living room. Enjoy it in the company of a good book.

A new recipe served up in a gay casserole on a tea cart or table near a comfortable chair, might be just the ticket to spur the flagging appetite of a grumpy convalescent.

The risk, when you're housebound, is that you'll keep plodding through one home task after another right down to dinner-time because you are there and your conscience reminds you of all the chores waiting.

It takes practice, but set a time limit for yourself and stop for the day at that hour, except for meal preparation.

Turn your attention to other matters: a cup of tea and the afternoon paper, helping with homework, writing a letter or plotting changes in the furniture arrangement.

IF READING BOOKS kept you busy this winter, you may find as I did that the books have slowly outgrown the shelf space.

Where to put a difficult-to-read shelf and what kind of shelves are questions demanding answers.

Wall-hung units, most often consisting of slotted wood strips into which fit brackets to hold shelves, and desk or cabinet, are available in several styles and prices.

To determine what units to use and where to place them, you'll need to draw space available to scale and measure accurately. Rails are placed about 18 to 24 inches apart. Often, too, drop-front desk units are lined with a plastic laminate which makes the surface suitable for beverage or food service as well.

Cheerful prospect for a blustery evening is supper served in the living room. Dark French walnut tea wagon doubles as a chair-side table. Drop-front desk in walnut wall unit is lined in black plastic and is safe for hot food service. Wagon and wall unit are imports designed by Danish Ib Kofod-Larsen, and are widely distributed here.

Wall units of this type require quite a bit of space, but shelves are adjustable and you can take them with you if you move.

With enough shelves to hold the books, you might be inspired to organize the volumes for greater usefulness and readability.

WHILE A SERVING CART is certainly not essential, it is a helpful accessory. It's interesting to me to note how many serve tables there are in new furniture, in many sizes and styles with a good representation among Danish modern furniture offerings.

Those are not bulky nor are they meant merely for periodic use. There are, in some lines, tables on wheels which could be used all the time as end tables, chairside tables or whatever.

They could be pressed into use for serving as the need arises.

In a new group by Danish designer Ib Kofod-Larsen, for example, the tea wagon in dark French walnut has a cane shelf, and a top with a sculptured edge to keep dishes fenced in, but its "furniture" look will keep it in service in the living room for many other purposes.

Lawrence

cized by some Democrats at a closed caucus on Tuesday.

Lawrence's pledge to seek passage of the program as "the best one for the state" focused attention on another caucus scheduled when the Legislature returns on Monday.

His statement came amid rumblings from labor leaders and several members of the advisory committee over talk of a possible compromise proposed during Tuesday's caucus. It involved agreement on a 4 per cent sales tax and exempting trade-ins.

Rep. Stephen McCann, House Democratic floor leader, backed tracked on an earlier statement Thursday that he had enough votes to win House approval of the 4 per cent levy.

Sentencing

about four months work. He injured his back piling sand bags during the January flood.

Taking the stand on his own behalf, Stewart told the court he had no idea what store he was going to rob "when I came over the (Hickory street) bridge." He lives on Mohawk avenue, Stewart said he drove around the block once before he stopped his car and entered Epstein clothing store. He said he was "nervous and scared."

Stewart said he didn't want to frighten anyone or hurt anyone. When asked if he told the store proprietor he would shoot, Stewart said he didn't, adding: "That's the last thing in the world I would have done." He carried a Gene Autry cap pistol in his pocket.

High praise from an Air Force report plus parental support, aided in the light sentence given Douglas Burke in his drunken driving charge. Burke struck a car on Route 62 then proceeded down the highway, striking two youths, in February. Home on leave from Air Force, Burke was fined $100 plus costs and sentenced to one day in jail, which has already been served.

It was brought out in court that the two persons struck by Burke's machine, Robert Verga of Jamestown and Jerry Jordan of Warren, were in the center of Burke's lane having a dispute when they were struck. They both wore dark clothing, it was noted.

Judge Flick told the 20-year-old man upon sentencing that every time soldiers come home on leave and meet with old buddies to "celebrate" and drive around the countryside, it usually means someone's death.

Drunken driving is a "shameful proposition," as stated by Judge Flick, in fining William Hartzell, Jr., $100 and a three-day jail sentence. One day is credited to the jail term.

Judge Flick pointed out that these minimum sentences have "some effect" because in the past five years, only two "repeaters" returned to court to face their second drunken driving charge.

Patrolman Bernard L. Winegardner testified that during a stakeout in February, LeRoy Bennett was observed loading coal into his car from Warren Water Company's Glade plant.

After receiving several complaints from the company stating that quantities of coal were being missed, Borough Police put a stakeout in the vicinity.

When arrested, Winegardner told the court that Bennett claimed he was given "permission" to take the coal Bennett said he wasn't told exactly to take the coal, but was reminded that "it was out there." He was ordered to pay costs.

A petition was also heard Freehold Township on raising the millage.

APOLOGY FROM US

Store owners, businessmen, schools districts, etc., who were not mentioned in Wednesday's special feature on the vast construction program here in Warren were not missed intentionally by Times-Mirror. There was a paragraph of explanation that was included with the story, but unfortunately, was not printed due to lack of space, much to the disappointment of the editors. As the various construction programs progress, we plan to have the usual round-up on each one.

fied in the statehood bill.

NEW YORK (AP)—Flag makers are in a flutter.

With the admission of Alaska to the Union, the flag manufacturers began turning out 49-star versions of Old Glory at top speed to have a big supply on hand when the new flags became official July 4.

Now with Hawaii about to become a state also, the manufacturers are in a dither over the possibility that a 50-star version will be needed even before those with 49 can be used.

WASHINGTON (AP)—With some fast action, Hawaii could have its two senators and a representative in Washington before Congress adjourns this summer.

President Eisenhower may get the statehood bill today. He has 10 legislative days—not including Sundays—to sign the measure after it is formally presented.

Hawaii's Gov. William Quinn has 30 days after formal notification of the President's approval in which to issue a proclamation of elections.

The primary election must be held no less than 60 days and no more than 90 days after the proclamation. A general election could be held no later than 40 days after the primary.

WCAVFA Has 75 Present Despite Wintry Weather

Nearly impassable roads and six inches of snow weren't enough to halt one of the largest gatherings of Warren County Active Volunteer Firemen Association's monthly meetings Thursday evening.

Held in Lander Fire Hall, 75 men were present for the affair, a chicken and biscuit dinner served by the ladies' auxiliary.

It was voted to hold April's meeting at the State Hospital, on April 16.

Myron Rapp, fire chief at Pleasant Township reported that the matter between volunteer units and Forest Department on forest fires had been "ironed" out. Scott Stuart, Jr., chief at Sugar Grove, checked with the radio calls of departments to be sure everything was in working condition.

New telephone number for central fire station in Warren when the dial system goes into effect in June, will be RAndolph 3-7100.

Robert Lauffman, public relations director for Bell Telephone from Pittsburgh, showed a movie on a new fire alarm system, that can save as much three minutes in answering a call.

Warren Area

York State Department of Education and the Connecticut legislature have brought official admissions that top many communities in both states have been spending more for school buildings than is necessary or wise.

The Investment Banker's Association reports that more than 700 million dollars' worth of school bonds have been voted down all over the country in the last 30 months. Either citizens couldn't pay the bill or didn't like the school plans presented to them.

"What to do about all this? With state and local spending nearly quadrupled since World War II, the National Education Association demands "massive infusions" of federal cash. And 69% of the country's school superintendents polled by the publication, "The Nation's Schools," propose that their school boards be given the power to levy taxes for new construction without the approval of the voters."

Mr. Stevenson continues—"Yet there is a way out of New Britain, Conn., for one community, has shown it. After a typical battle, this manufacturing city is using its own funds to build fine schools at less cost than had been thought possible. In the process it has come up with a common-sense approach to school construction that other communities may wish to follow."

According to the article, in 1954 New Britain folks were pretty happy when the city adopted a ten-million dollar school construction program. But there were complaints when the first completed elementary buildings included cushioned auditorium seats, and blue ceramic walls for the boys' washrooms, besides stainless steel drinking fountains in every room as recommended by the National Council on Schoolhouse Construction.

A young attorney and municipal judge had suggested forming a building committee of senior citizens with experience in construction to help get the most for the taxpayer's money. The superintendent of schools, however, wanted the new buildings to "express an esthetic ideal that would raise the cultural sights of the community."

As the story goes, the lowest bid for an unusual junior high school, $2,149,000 came into the picture. That was $100,000 more than the board of finance had agreed to pay for everything—construction plus land and all equipment. Following dissension in the ranks, the school superintendent and his chief assistant quit for jobs elsewhere at higher pay and at this low point, both sides turned to the once dismissed idea—a school-building committee. A group of trusted citizens was formed, each member endorsed by the school and finance boards.

Eventual outcome, after all necessary work had been done, brought forth an actual and complete construction cost of one million, five-hundred and thirty-two thousand dollars for 1100 pupils. That is $14.59 per square foot of building. $1392.72 per pupil. The original plan would have cost $2,149,000 for 800 pupils. Thus, in terms of number of pupils being served there is a saving to New Britain taxpayers of more than one million dollars.

The Digest report contains many additional facts about how costs were reduced including other detailed economies such as minimizing the use of window walls and skylights, simplifying overelaborate heating and ventilating and plumbing systems and many others.

The man who went through the battles as New Britain's school board president says: "On the basis of my eight years of service, I'd advise board members everywhere to insist on standards such as these (standards that will separate fundamentals from the frills and the experimental. Economy doesn't mean the cheapest; it means getting the maximum value—and equally important, I'd insist that our professional school administrators make clear what they are trying to do, so that we laymen, who want to help can do so, not only humbly and gratefully, but more intelligently as well."

Fabric Contrasts Are Dramatic

The natural waistline, coupled with a soft and feminine look, stamps these designs as spring, 1959. Costume in Mexican pink (left) combines textured silk jacket and skirt with a filmy, tucked chiffon blouse. The blouse top (center) is a major spring silhouette. Here, it is done in a brown-and-black

NEW YORK (NEA)—Silk and satin are the fabrics of luxury, but this spring they're going around with some steady old standbys: cotton tweed and wool alpaca.

They're mixing it up with other fabric, too, for the very good reason that this creates a very beautiful contrast in texture. The gleam of silk or satin against a tweedy cotton or a dark wool lights up a costume just as jewels light up beauty. Fabric contrasts are handled in other ways this season. Raw silk and filmy chiffon are dyed the same shade of hot pink and combined in one costume.

Otherwise, the prettiest single thing about spring afternoon dresses and costumes is that they are curved to the figure. Many of them have bloused tops or stand-away collars or wide sleeves. But none of this interferes with a silhouette that's essentially all girl.

The costume idea is interpreted in many ways. A costume is a coat and co-ordinated dress but it's also dress and jacket or coat with two dresses. In this last case, one is likely to be a print and one solid color. And the costume idea carries over into related fields: the silk print turban matched to dress or blouse or scarf, the evening dress with matching coat or capelet.

Whatever form the costume takes this year, there's this about it: it's neatly fitted. And the waistline is not dropped about the bosom. It's where nature intended it should be.

"Blue Baby" Reported Good After Surgery

CHICAGO (AP)—David Stewart, 29-month-old "blue baby," who underwent a four-hour operation Thursday, was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Doctors said, however, the first 48 hours after surgery would be a crucial period and the boy would be kept under oxygen for three days.

Doctors said David's complexion was somewhat pinker, indicating the operation improved his blood circulation.

David, who could not feed himself, walk, crawl or speak, was brought to Children's Memorial Hospital from his home in the San Francisco Bay area. Thousands of Californians contributed nearly $10,000 to finance the trip and operation. His parents, Thomas and Jo Ann, came with him.

Hawaiians Disregard Friday The 13th Jinx to Make Merry

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

HONOLULU (AP) — Happy Hawaiians cranked up a second round of celebrations today for their newly acquired statehood.

Disregarding Friday the 13th, they planned a five-hour show at Honolulu Stadium featuring Hollywood entertainers and 200 grass-skirted hula dancers.

It was a holiday again throughout the islands, just as it was Thursday when Congress voted long-awaited statehood for the territory.

The day's program also called for a religious thanksgiving service in Honolulu and a big concert by the Royal Hawaiian Band, joined by the bands of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

Also on the program was a 50-gun salute to the 50th state fired by artillerymen from howitzers on Iolani Palace grounds.

Thursday's celebration began noisily within minutes after the House completed passage of the statehood bill.

It exploded in a discordant din of sirens, church bells, ship's whistles and motorists' horns.

At night there were street dancing, bonfires and fireworks.

Military planes dropped flares at sea off Waikiki Beach, the island's best known resort spot.

At Waikiki, throngs jammed the streets to see dancing by Tahitian, Samoan and Hawaiian maidens.

Light showers failed to dampen the festivities. Native Hawaiians, who regard rain as a blessing of the Gods, took it as a good omen for the newest state.

Servicemen at liberty joined the thousands crowding the Waikiki area. One serviceman carried a cardboard sign from his neck reading "Maryland welcomes Hawaii" and another had assign which read "Iowa votes yes."

The largest bonfire was a towering blaze on an island adjoining Honolulu harbor. Logs from many states and foreign countries had been collected for the blaze.

WHEN THE CROCUS AWOKE US—First sign of spring? The crocus? A robin? For the Great Lakes area, a sure sign of winter's end is the preparation of lake boats to resume sailing. The behemoth Benson Ford, a 34-year-old 612-foot ore carrier, rests in drydock in River Rouge, Mich., for its compulsory five-year inspection.

CLOCK WATCHER—Rep. Randall S. Harmon (D-Ind.), who hit the headlines with news that he was renting his front porch to the government for $1,200 a year, shows a miniature time clock he uses in Washington. A clock-punching factory worker for 40 years before elected, Harmon stamps the arrival of mail to determine how long it takes his staff to answer it. He also stamps visitors in and out.
